FEBRUARY 2009

Optional Cancellation Insurance

This important, low-cost protection which also covers trip interruption, travel delays and baggage delays, is provided by Travel Insured International and can protect your investment. It is automatically billed to your account and included in your balance unless you decline coverage prior to cancellation or final payment.

ROOMING

Final payments are due in our office by March 1, 2009 –pay online or via mail. The next step after final payment will be choosing your roommates. We will mail everyone that is paid in full a rooming worksheet at the end of March. Everyone should discuss their rooming choices with their roommates, fill in your selections on the form, and mail or fax it back to our office to be here by the deadline-April 6, 2009.

All trip prices are based on 4 to a room and there will be additional fees should you not have 4 in your room at the time of rooming. The occupancy fees for your level of hotel are listed on your past invoices.

PASSPORTS

Final reminder...EVERYONE traveling to Mexico or Bahamas will need a valid passport to travel. The first/last name on your passport must match the legal first/last name that appears on your Grad Week invoice. If your name does not match, you may be denied boarding. There will be a fee charged to change the name on your ticket after final payment, so please be sure that your account name is correct.

WHAT'S NEXT?

After final payment deadline 3/1, rooming worksheets will be sent out and due back here by 4/6. Then, we will be hard at work finalizing the details of your trip! We will post your group's confirmed dates and hotel assignments online and mail them out to you about 30 days prior to departure. Your airline tickets will be sent to you along with more information about the week's activities shortly after that. Take a snap shot with your diploma, pack your bag, and get ready for a fabulous week at the beach with Grad Week!
